ZADIG'S COMPLAINT BROUGHT A CHANGE

THREATENED TO BRING CAR CONDITIONS TO ATTENTION OF STATE COMMISSIONERS

Herman Zadig says he is entitled to credit for bringing about the improved Pullman service between San Francisco and Tonopah. On July 27 he wrote the superintendent of the Pullman company at Oakland protesting against the treatment of first class passengers on this run by forcing them to accept sleeping cars that would not be used on any other route of the Southern Pacific where there is competition. The latter called attention to the absence of electric fans in summer time and electric lights in winter, the substitute for the latter being old fashioned lamps, obsolete many years ago. In conclusion Mr. Zadig stated: "I am sick and tired of this rotten service and if you don't pay attention to this complaint I will bring the matter before the Railroad commissioners of Nevada and California." The Pullman representative replied to the effect that the company had been considering the change for some time and had ordered the additional comforts for desert travelers.

RELIGIOUS PREJUDICE SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

mere racial prejudices are not the only difficulties which confront the nation today. A more subtle influence is abroad in the land in the character of an organized campaign to discredit the Catholic church and to brand Americans of that religious belief as unworthy of the confidence of their fellow citizens. Men and women have been going through this country on lecture platforms and through public print with a campaign of vilification of the manhood and womanhood of the Catholic church which would resurrect the dead to righteous indignation. We Catholics men are just like the rest of you, with a limit of human patience. For centuries we have been taught to respect our mothers, our wives, our sisters and our daughters, and if, therefore, the mails are filled with literature unfit to be read by decent people it is hardly to be wondered at if in certain places impulsive men have resented insults to their women in a manner not warranted by law.

"My observation has led me to believe that there is some anxiety even among some otherwise well informed people as to the political power of the Pope. Ordinarily that would be an extensive subject to consider in one night. Contemporary history has, however, afforded an illustration that should remove the last lingering suspicion of doubt from such anxious citizens.

"We Catholic Americans owe no political allegiance to the Pope. He has no civil powers whatever over our activities. I am saying this deliberately and without equivocation or reservation, and am asking you to accept it with the sincerity with which it is expressed.

"So long as religious liberty is practiced under the spirit of the constitution, the Catholic would be the veriest ingrate who would not give his whole hearted allegiance to this country. If we only look abroad, therefore, at illustrations to which I refer we will see Catholics of every country in Europe dying by the thousands for the flag of their nation. In some instances that flag typifies a country which has in the past promulgated and enforced discriminating laws against the Catholic church and deprived Catholics of their just rights, and positively prescribed their freedom and happiness, but it is the flag of their country and the Catholic's patriotism is a living virtue and he feels impelled to respond to the call of patriotism and the bounded duty of his conscience.

"I think I voice the sentiments of the membership of the Knights of Columbus and of every intelligent Catholic in this country when I say that we deeply appreciate the spirit of tolerance and good feeling which for the most part exists among our non-Catholic brethren throughout the length and breadth of the land. Bishop Mora, early Spanish bishop of Los Angeles, always alluded to his non-Catholic fellow citizens as his 'separate brethren,' a most charming reference, which never failed to strike a responsive chord.

"We are furthermore not unmindful of the fact that elsewhere in foreign countries the religious line has been drawn sharp and hard, and very often it is the dead line of strife and bitterness. If any of my Catholic friends are doubting the accuracy of my opinion in this matter, particularly if he comes from Europe or any other part of the civilized world, let him go back there and compare the attitude of the non-Catholic of that country with the spirit which pervades the non-Catholics of the United States and he will recognize the value of the conclusion at which I have arrived."

CASEMENT DIES ON SCAFFOLD

Honored by knighthood—a title since taken from him by King George's order—for his many years of service for Great Britain as consul and consul general, Roger Casement assumed leadership, at a period of his country's crisis, in the recent Irish rebellion, the plans for which were laid while Casement was in Berlin, where he was reported to have negotiated with the German imperial authorities.

British naval supremacy brought an abortive close to Casement's plans. The German tramp steamship, on which there was transported an armed expedition from Germany nearly to the west coast of Ireland in April of this year was blown up by its own crew when the latter foresaw that it was inevitable that the blockading English warships would capture it. The crew were made prisoners. The tramp had been conveyed from Kiel by a German submarine, from which Casement and a companion landed on Irish soil, where they were taken into custody before their plans matured.

In May, Casement was given a preliminary hearing and was committed for trial on the charge of high treason. Late in June the trial was begun, Casement pleading not guilty and uttering a denial that he had worked in Germany's interests and that he had accepted German gold as a bribe.

The court's verdict was guilty, and the sentence of death by hanging was, after appeal by his counsel, confirmed by the court of criminal appeal late in July.

The London press generally approved the fate legally fixed for Casement, but in America persistent efforts were made to save the noted prisoner from death. In Washington, a resolution was introduced in the Senate which would have President Wilson intercede with the British government, and numerous petitions received at the White House from many sources asking that a plea for clemency be made. In England, the Manchester Guardian and a number of other papers pleaded for mercy and petitions asking for a reprieve were circulated in London. Adherents of John Redmond forwarded to Premier Asquith a petition signed by six bishops, twenty-six members of Parliament and fifty-one other persons, including a number of educators.

Pope Benedict interceded in Casement's behalf, endeavoring to obtain grace for him from the British government, influential Irish Nationalists having urged upon the pontiff that the prisoner was not a traitor but was inspired by Irish patriotism.

Roger Casement, prior to the war, established a reputation through his investigation of the Congo and South American rubber atrocities committed on natives by Belgian and British rubber hunters. The then Sir Roger headed a commission of inquiry that brought about reforms. In 1903 he became actively identified with the organization of the Irish National volunteers. He was in the United States when the war began and addressed an open letter to the Irish press advising Irishmen to remain neutral. In October, 1914, he went to Norway and thence to Berlin, whence came the news that startled the world—Casement was plotting what his country looked upon as high treason. His friends, recalling his years of service in Africa and South America, claimed for him that the tropical sun had unbalanced him mentally. Casement was born on September 1, 1864.

COPPER WAGES CUT TWO BITS

PRICE FOR JULY FELL BELOW TWENTY-FIVE CENTS POUND CAUSE OF CHANGE

BUTTE CITY, August 3.—Owing to the fact that copper settlement prices for the month of July averaged less than 25 cents, wages of the 20,000 miners in Butte district were reduced from $4.50 to $4.25 per day. The reduction is in conformity with the promise made by the employing companies April 27 when in granting a voluntary increase of 25 cents a day the promise was made that the increase should apply "so long as copper remains at 25 cents a pound or more." The mines paying Saturday paid on the basis of the new scale of $4.25.

LAND MOVEMENT LIVELY IN LANDER

AGENT OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC LAND BOOM HAS COME TO LANDER COUNTY

P. T. Bergerson, traveling freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, came in this morning filled with enthusiasm over the great land boom that has broken out in Lander county from Battle Mountain south through the Reese river country.

"Where everybody was talking mining last fall nothing is spoken of now but the possibilities of farming, and those who have the money are busy prospecting for water to use in irrigation. I know something about this section, since I formerly lived there, and Dan McIntyre, my father in law, was first to sink an artesian well. The land cannot be equalled and it is merely a question of the cost of pumping on the higher lands where the artesian flow may not be tapped.

"I am reliably informed that the Thompson smelter is going to open. There have been numerous reports to this effect before, but I am led to believe the story at this time is authentic, since men are being hired at Thompson."

REPUBLICANS WILL CONTROL SENATE

DISQUIETING REPORTS RECEIVED FROM MANY STATES, INCLUDING KENTUCKY

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, August 3.—Congressman Frank P. Woods, chairman of the Republican Congressional committee, today made his first political campaign declaration with the prediction that the Republicans will not only elect Hughes but will regain control of the Senate.

"A careful survey of the situation," says Woods, "makes it reasonably certain that of the successors to Democratic senators going out of office ten and possibly eleven will be Republicans, and a gain on nine senators will give the Republicans control.

"The shabby conduct of our foreign relations, both in Mexico and elsewhere, lies as much at the door of the Democratic senate as at the door of the Democratic president. Democratic senators have acquiesced in the blunders of the executive when, if they had been less mindful of political expediency and patronage and more sensitive to patriotic duty, they could have protected the national rights from invasion.

"Lack of initiative in legislative endeavor in the Senate has been aggravated by lack of sufficient courage to prevent the president from rushing into office men so unfit for public service that their nominations should have been rejected."
